

RUSSELL

Taylor

SINGER • SONGWRITER • PRODUCER • DIRECTOR • ACTIVIST • EDUCATOR

Russell Taylor is a dynamic interdisciplinary artist whose soulful sound is rooted in the rich musical traditions of cities he's called home—Philly, New York, and the DMV. Known for his old-school flair and showmanship, he effortlessly navigates various genres, delivering heartfelt performances that connect deeply with audiences. His versatile artistry has led him to share stages with icons like Mary J. Blige, Lalah Hathaway, and Estelle while performing across global stages from New York and LA to Paris and Moscow.

With numerous sold-out shows, including the legendary Apollo Theater, Taylor has cultivated a dedicated and ever-growing fanbase that spans continents, capturing the hearts of listeners across the world. His talent and authenticity earned him recognition as one of VH1's "You Oughta Know" artists, and his music has been featured on popular TV shows such as Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D., The Fosters, and Black Ink Crew.

Beyond music, Russell hosts and produces the acclaimed series Soulversations—a project dedicated to celebrating and preserving Black artistry through engaging conversations and live performances. He is also a Recording Academy Governor, an educator, and the creator of The Blxcks clothing brand, consistently demonstrating his commitment to reconnecting people with their souls through art.
